

Trading Update first quarter 2013

Rotterdam, 25 April 2013

Business during the first quarter 2013

Amsterdam Commodities N.V. (Acomo) reports that the activities in the first quarter of 2013 were in line with the performance in the same period last year. All activities were profitable and the total Group achieved good results.

Following the trend of the second half of 2012, the price levels of various food commodities continued to ease resulting in slightly lower sales levels. On the other hand, the lower price levels combined with relatively stabilizing economic conditions had some positive effects on volumes and margins.

The direction of the various markets is now uncertain. We continue, however, to provide our worldwide suppliers and customers with reliable purchase contracts and supply of agricultural food products in the international commodity markets.

Given the nature of our activities and the markets we are active in, we cannot forecast the further development of the markets or anticipate the results of the Group for the full year 2013. We are confident that our trading teams will continue to generate positive results for the shareholders.
